

Big Little Book award

Kartik Ghosh

Author (Bengali)

Shortlist 2017

Notable work

Hijibijir Deshe

Rinku's uncle is angry with her for doodling on the pages of her math exercise books. He orders Rinku to tear away the 'hijibiji' doodled pages. With a heavy heart Rinku tears away the two pages. Her doodle of a little boy and his sister flies in the wind on a journey. What happens to them? Who do they meet? What happens when they follow the wind?

Jui Phuler Rumaal

In the changing world, little do we humans listen to the other lives in the living world other than ours. Jui Phuler Rumaal is a collection of four stories where the birds and the frogs, the hen and the squirrel, the fish, the turtle and the butterflies share their woes and have a story to tell.

Sei Chheleta

It is Goblus' world! Characters magically come to life from pages of his textbooks of arithmetic and geography. Goblus' parents are poor and ask him to earn. Goblus decides to take up the job of a story-picker. Just as rag pickers find rags all over for them to pick, in Goblus' finds elements for stories in abundance in the world of nature and fantasy.

Bhelbheleta

Nature, with its rustic world, opens up in this autobiographical story. A dreamy, wide-eyed boy leaves his small village for the city in search of a livelihood. Life throws a challenge but his dream holds him by the hand.

Megher Meye Meghla

The naughty fluffy little cloud-girl Meghla ventures out of the sky. She longs to see the land of Dakghar, where a little boy waits for his letter. Meghla sets on her journey to look for Amol, Sudha and Doiwala of 'Dakghar'.